Grand Army and Relief Corps Meet

T. M. BARRETT, who, for the second time, is commander of the local G. A. R. organization.

Two Organizations In Impressive Ceremony for Officials

IN a hall from whose walls gazed solemnly down the pictured faces of Washington, Lincoln, Grant and McKinley—officers of the four posts of the nation—a historic ceremony was performed yesterday.

The hall was that of the General N. P. Banks post of the Grand Army of the Republic, at 902 South Glendale avenue, and the ceremony was the joint installation of the 1923 officers of the G. A. R. and the W. R. C.

Once again the bonds of "fraternity, charity and loyalty" cemented these old comrades together, for another year of the last great advance. For nearly sixty years now the tramp of their marching feet has stirred the hearts of the people, as they have pressed on over the dusty road of time.

And with the passage of the years, the going has become harder, but the eyes have become brighter and the lips firmer, and the grand old comrades, with their loyal women of the Relief Corps at their side with helping hands of love and tenderness, are marching on down the narrowing, roughening road.

Impressive Program

The installation of the G. A. R., at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, was something to stir the heart and moisten the eyes. The

Uncle John Says:

Mary gets her dander up when any one tries to run down Glendale. One of the neighbors come in this morning all dressed up and on her way to Los Angeles. She had seen some dresses advertised awful cheap in a Los Angeles paper the evening before, and was going over to get one because they were so stylish and so cheap.

"Have you looked at dresses in Glendale?" Mary asked her. "No," she said, "but I like to go to a large city where I have more of a choice."

"Maybe you do," says Mary, "but when you go out of the door with one of them bargain sale dresses you're likely to meet yourself comin' in, in the same model. You better look around in Glendale first. You'll be surprised at the choice styles and the quality and reasonable prices." And the woman said she believed she would.

THIS CITY STANDS CLOSE TO TOP IN 1922 BUILDING

Fine Progress Is Made by Glendale During Past Year, Figures Show

Reports of building permits issued in thirty-nine cities in southern California and Arizona including Los Angeles, during 1922, show an aggregate valuation of $215,698,172, compared with a total of $149,787,328 for thirty-eight cities for 1921 and $106,704,215 for thirty-eight cities for 1920. Only six out of the thirty-nine cities reporting for 1922 show a decrease compared with 1921 and with only one or two exceptions the losses are very slight.

In many instances the gains are very large and in most of these new high records are established. Thirty-eight cities outside of Los Angeles report a total for 1922 of $94,491,385, while thirty-seven cities report a total of $67,925,942 for 1921 and thirty-four cities reported $46,680,615 for 1920.

Twenty-four cities outside Los Angeles reported a total for 1922 in excess of $1,000,000, compared with nineteen in 1921 and eleven in 1920. Long Beach leads the outside cities as it has done ever since the war with a total of fourteen millions for 1922; San Diego is second with ten and a quarter millions and Pasadena third with nine and a half millions. Glendale is fifth with more than six millions. Fullerton's total for 1922 does not include $480,000 worth of school building for which no permits are required.

'Thirteen' Jackson Meets January 13 In Thirteen Ways

D. RIPLEY JACKSON, Glendale's "thirteenth" resident because he was born under the lucky thirteen, set the family alarm clock a bit ahead this morning, January 13, in order that he would be on time to inaugurate the half-holiday for postal employees on Saturdays under the lucky sign. But that wasn't all the day held in store for Mr. Jackson, for when he got to his office the first piece of mail he picked up was a bill from an insurance company, policy No. 113474, with the office identification No. 58413. Furthermore the bill was received on January 13 and hinted to Mr. Jackson that he owed $19.13.

The next move of the postmaster was to write a check for $19.13, date it January 13 and call it a day.

No Business Can Be Run Successfully Without It, Says Will E. Chapin

Gold dollars could not be sold for 50 cents apiece unless they were exploited by advertising!

This startling assertion was made last night at the Odd Fellows' hall in an informal talk, illustrated by cartoons drawn on a letter which was not able to complete.

Born in New York

"Grandma Smith" was born at Chatham, Columbia county, New York, March 1, 1828. At the age of 4 years she moved with her parents, Thomas and Anna Hensley, to Middlefield, Mass., where they lived until 1843.

Her mother died when she was a small girl and shortly after this the family journeyed to southern Wisconsin to live.

She was married to Luther Smith April 13, 1848, and to them were born five children, one son and four daughters. Surviving her are a son and daughter, George S. Smith of Glendale and Mrs. Myrtle Bishop of Colton.

She also leaves three grandchildren, nine great grandchildren and one great, great grandchild in Battle Creek, Mich.

Her husband died in 1904 at Whitewater, Wis.

"Grandma" was a devoted member of the Seventh-day Adventist church, having become a member in 1864.

Her funeral services were held Thursday in Riverside and burial took place in the little cemetery at the foot of Mount Rubidoux.

"Grandma Smith's" death takes the first member of the Sunset club.

MRS. ESTHER SMITH IS DEAD AT AGE OF 94 YEARS

Third Oldest Member of Evening News Sunset Club Is First to Go

ON the vineclad porch of a little bungalow home at 410 East Broadway one could see almost any afternoon last summer a dear old woman sitting, sewing, looking up now and then to greet some passer-by with a smile. It was Mrs. Esther Smith, or "Grandma Smith," as she is known to her many friends, 94 years of age and the third oldest member of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club.

Her many friends who were wont to greet her will regret to learn of her death that occurred Monday, January 8, 1923, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Bishop, in Colton, where "Grandma" spent the winter months.

The summer months "Grandma" spent in Glendale at the home of her son, G. S. Smith on East Broadway, and because of this summer residence Glendale claimed her as one of the oldest residents.

Although approaching her 95th year, "Grandma Smith" was interested in the affairs about her and possessed an unusually clear mind. She had been enjoying splendid health and her death was not a result of illness.

Her passing was marked by a sleep from which she did not awaken.

Sewing One Hobby

Sewing was one of her hobbies and her relatives prize highly pieces of her handiwork done in recent months. She also kept up a faithful correspondence with relatives and friends in White Water, Wis., where she lived for over seventy years. There she leaves a sister, Mrs. James Smith, who is 88 years old.

It was "Grandma's" habit to write a bit each day on a weekly letter to this sister and last week she had written faithfully on a letter which she was not able to complete.

A. R. Eastman New Leader For Boy Scouts Council

A. R. EASTMAN, who was last night elected president of the Verdugo Hills Boy Scout Council. A pleasing program was presented at the annual meeting.

Organization Holds Annual Meeting, Listens to Varied Program and Approves of Two Year Budget Totalling $22,500

THE Verdugo Hills Boy Scout Council held its first annual meeting last night in the banquet room of the Citizens' building following a turkey dinner. A. R. Eastman of 709 North Louise street was elected president of the council. Charles L. Chandler of 2320 Canada boulevard, retiring president, was elected scout commissioner. He acted as toastmaster and called attention to a few of the outstanding achievements by local scouts during the past year.

The principal speaker was Charles N. Miller of Pasadena, twelfth regional scout executive. He called attention to the juvenile problem by commenting on the fact that 30 per cent of the population at San Quentin is juvenile. He said that dollars alone would not solve this problem and that the only way to improve boys with criminal tendencies is through the influence of boys with better character. He emphasized the plasticity of the boy as compared with the rigidity of the character of the adult.

Approve of Budget

A two-year budget for $22,500 was approved. This was submitted by Peter L. Perry of 614 East Acacia avenue, chairman of the budget committee. It provides for the expenditure of $10,000 this year and $12,500 next year. Preliminary plans were made to put on a financial campaign between February 8 and 14, which was announced as Boy Scout Anniversary Week.

"As a Scoutmaster Sees Scouting" was the topic of a talk given by Scout Master Leonard P. Collins of Burbank.

The Verdugo Hills Boy Scout orchestra played a number of selections during the banquet. The orchestra was organized by Dallas Kaubach of 526 West Doran street, who played traps. Other boys in the Arthur Barton, saxophone; Horace Brown, violin, and Graham Young, piano. All of its numbers were much applauded.

Acts As Song Leader

"Auld Lang Syne" was sung as a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Robinson of 1234 East Winsor road. Mayor Robinson also sang several other songs. He was accompanied by Mrs. Robinson. Mrs. Porter Custer sang several soprano solos which were much praised.

As official "pep promoter," Captain D. Ripley Jackson of 1800 South Brand boulevard, acted as song leader, and, after the business session, led those gathered around the piano in a number of songs. Among them were "Old Black Joe," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "The Old Oaken Bucket," "Jingle Bells" and a song written by Richardson D. White especially for the occasion.

This was sung to the tune of "Leave Me With a Smile," and was entitled "Start It With a Smile."

"A Toast to a Boy Scout" was given by Dr. Harry B. Crawford of Eagle Rock. It was replied to by Eagle Scout Clifford Wolcott.

GIVES TWO WEEKS FURTHER TIME IN WHICH TO MEET OBLIGATIONS

Big Payment of Gold Marks Put Over; Resistance in Ruhr Is Passive

By FRANK E. MASON For International News Service

PARIS, Jan. 13.—The international reparations commission today gave Germany a fortnight's grace to pay the 500,000,000 gold marks indemnity installment due Monday. In the meantime, France will draw up new conditions upon which she will consent to an indemnity moratorium for Germany.

France's conciliatory move towards Germany was believed to have resulted from the policy of passive resistance adopted by the Germans in the newly occupied zones in the Ruhr valley. The attitude of the Germans made it evident that France would have a difficult time increasing reparations payments from Germany even with productive guarantees imposed with military strength.

Members of the cabinet are hopeful that in the next two weeks Germany will in some way find the 500,000,000 gold marks that are due. This is when the first quarterly payments fall due since the expiration of the partial moratorium granted under the so-called Brussels plan.

Sir John Bradbury, British representative on the reparations commission, who is the only member to maintain a moderate policy towards Germany, attended today's meeting.

According to the Petit Parisien the delay is necessary to learn Germany's intentions.

Passive Resistance Is Continued by Germans

By S. D. WEYER For International News Service

ESSEN, Jan. 13.—The French invaders of the Rhineland today were squarely up against a policy of organized passive resistance on the part of the whole community. There have been no disorders nor attacks against the French troops. So far as known not a single shot has been fired since the French crossed into the Ruhr basin.

Following the refusal of the mine owners to meet the members of the France-Belgian-Italian industrial commission, headed by General Jan. 13.—The refusal of the public officials to give the French any information, German labor turned today down French advances.

Except for a handful of communists, and a few Polish workers, labor as a unit is opposing the French attempts to separate the Rhineland from Germany.

Make Promises

French officials promised labor an eight hour work day, better working conditions and more liberal treatment generally in an effort to win them.

Johann Bierwirth, leader of the Rhineland workers, in an exclusive interview with International News Service, said: "The French are mistaken if they think they can beat us with promises."

"We do not need the French for anything. Anyhow, we Germans are fifty years ahead of the French in social legislation. We are Germans first, last and all the time."

Trouble was feared this afternoon if the coal miners are not paid.

"Riots of incalculable consequence will certainly follow if the men have to go without their money," said Bierwirth. "They will be directed against the French for the workers know they have no reason to attack their employers."

THEATRES

The Glendale

Christy and MacDonald, billed as "Songs and Piano," are among the new acts comprising the big vaudeville bill at the Glendale Theatre today. Murry and Park will present "Singing, Dancing and Talking." Esmerald and Webb entitle their contribution, "A Musical and Singing Oddity." The Jackson trio will present "Nitty Nonsense." Mando Fox and her wonderful canines are billed, featuring "Dan," the talking dog.
Added to this fine bill for Saturday will be Johnnie Walker, in "My Dad," that cyclonic film that has been dedicated to the "Dads" of the world.
Tomorrow (Sunday) the Great Metro all-star picture, "Guinea Adams Sawyer" opens at the Glendale Theatre, with Lon Chaney, Blanch Sweet, Louise Fazenda, June Elvidge, Elmo Lincoln, Victor Potel, Gale Henry, Hank Mann, Barbara La Marr and others in the remarkable cast.

The T. D. & L.

Wally Reid, in "Thirty Days," is at the T. D. & L. Theatre for the last times today. It is a typical Wally picture—moves fast and is ram-ram full of howling comedy situations. Wanda Hawley supports the star brilliantly and a fine cast of capable players make up this enjoyable Paramount film.
Tomorrow (Sunday) Wesley Barry will be shown on the T. D. & L.'s special home-made film, "Who's Who in Glendale," depicting people familiar in the public eye, photographed from the back, so you will have to guess who they are. Answers to be left at the box office will win fine prizes to be announced later.
Community spirit is increased when you do your buying in Glendale.

installing officer was General William H. Noll, of General Stanton post, of Los Angeles, past department commander. He was assisted by Commander Thomas Hull, also of General Stanton post.

Retiring Commander George F. Le Cleve, of Eagle Rock, gave over his command to Commander-Elect T. M. Barrett, of 364 West Wilson avenue, who held this high office before, in the General N. P. Banks post, being the only commander ever so honored in the history of the post.

Commander Barrett's war record is a proud one. Enlisting with the first regiment of infantry to leave the state of Wisconsin, he was engaged in many of the principal battles of the war.

Stone River, Perryville, Murphysboro, Jonesboro, Missionary Ridge and the siege of Atlanta. And, after three years of this severe service with his regiment, Commander Barrett was mustered out, only to re-enlist in the Eighth U. S. Veteran Volunteers. He was then sent to Washington, D. C., where he had the experience of being on guard at the trial following the assassination of Lincoln, and at the trial of Captain Wirtz of Andersonville prison notoriety.

Lots of Marching
Comrade R. N. Taylor, officer of the day-elect, had a great deal of marching about the hall to do, but he admitted with a smile, to installing Officer Noll, that he found this less fatiguing than his march with Sherman to the sea, those long years ago.

The full list of G. A. R. officers installed for the year 1923 follows: T. M. Barrett, commander; T. C. Fuller, senior vice-commander; Charles Skelton, junior vice-commander; T. A. Robinson.

The installation was very impressive, carried out flawlessly by the beautiful work of the members, with the able assistance of Mrs. Scheer and Mrs. Humphrey.

The full list of W. R. C. officers installed for the year 1923 follows: Flora Pixley, president; Ellen Earley, senior vice-president; Leona Skelton, junior vice-president; Juliana Hayes, secretary; Emma Kirtz, treasurer; Ella Welsh, chaplain; Adelaide Chaplin, conductor; Addie Clark, guard; Mary Milligan, patriotic instructor; Nina Richards, press correspondent; Gertrude Tisdale, musician; Hettie Lawson, assistant conductor; Ivy Robertson, assistant guard; Mary Bennett, Merle Bowen, Alma Dutton and Anna Page, color-bearers.

Besides her daughter in Missouri, Mrs. Rawlins is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Howard Martin of Los Angeles; and a son Horace Overton of Chowchilla.

The funeral services are to be held at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the First Baptist church with Rev. Ernest E. Ford officiating. Burial will take place in Forest Lawn Memorial park.

MATHEW WILLIAM GEAR
Mathew William Gear, who had been living with his wife at the home of a daughter, Mrs. E. P. Sherman of 1217 East Lexington drive, died yesterday, Friday, January 12, 1923, at a hospital in Pasadena.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday, January 16, 1923, in the chapel of Kiefer & Eyerick. Interment will be in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Mrs. Florella Gear survives her husband and has two other daughters: Mrs. Elsie Halik of LaCrosse, Wis., and Mrs. R. L. Kenyon of San Francisco.

Deaths and Funerals
VIRGINIA FRANCIS RAWLINS
The body of Mrs. Virginia Francis Rawlins, formerly of Glendale, resident, who died January 9, 1923, at her daughter's home in Missouri, is being brought to Glendale for funeral services and burial.

Mrs. Rawlins was visiting her daughter and was taken ill with pneumonia, which resulted in her death.

The deceased was the wife of the late John Rawlins, who died a year ago. They lived at one time on Orange street and during their residence here they took active parts in Baptist church affairs.

Besides her daughter in Missouri, Mrs. Rawlins is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Howard Martin of Los Angeles; and a son Horace Overton of Chowchilla.

The funeral services are to be held at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the First Baptist church with Rev. Ernest E. Ford officiating. Burial will take place in Forest Lawn Memorial park.

It was with a view of making a complete map of Death Valley red into this sinkhole. This will be the first one ever made by a Buick in conquering the devastating stretches of Death rare skill and tenacity at the wheel. Car and driver were actual photographs taken by himself and Franklin on the trip.

Golden State's Most Desolate Spot Still Holds Terrors of Sixty Years Ago; Buick Car

By EYEWITNESS

Death Valley looks like a long, narrow crack in the map. It is awfully easy to get lost in it, even over a house top of an ace and Death Valley will never be popular with motorists, not even with the misguided type who try to make their cars climb trees or telegraph poles, or leap wildly into space from mountain roads.

Only the daredevils will ever want to visit Death Valley. It is a waste of time to be there. It is like the plague. It breaks out all over and with dangers. Parts of it are sign-posted by the Auto club. The worst parts are not.

Owens, artist, has had his fill of gambling with the desert. We checked our map and had to run on flat ones and at one time found ourselves with six gallons of gas in the tank and miles and miles away from habitation without a sign of a road in sight. It was enough to test the courage of any man, even an artist.

Three of 'Em

We left Los Angeles one afternoon when the skies were practicing for a rainfall. Outdoor Frankish, carried three passengers, grub for a month, blankets sufficient for nights at high altitudes.

Death Valley is desolation beyond description. That's what Manly said of it in his tale of the heart-breaking excursion of '49. And Death Valley today is just as desolate and just as grim. It was fifty-three years ago. The march of civilization has left Death Valley very much alone. What civilization ventured in during the early days has moved

When we sought expert advice upon a trip to Death Valley, we were strongly advised by old-timers of the region not to attempt the valley by way of Emigrant Wash. But we had in our party an intrepid artist who was inspired with an ambition to be the first modern man to make a ground map of Death Valley. Viewing Death Valley dangers from Los Angeles was like looking through the inverted end of a telescope.

Revenue Chief Gives Warning to Dealers

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell has announced that automobile dealers who add, or cause to be added, a body to a new chassis, are manufacturers of the vehicle thus completed, and are liable for payment of tax on the selling price thereof. This tax is 3 per cent if they thus make and sell a truck, or 5 per cent if they make and sell a passenger automobile. This ruling was received from Washington.

If the auto "dealer-manufacturer" buys the chassis and body directly from the manufacturers of such articles, and reimburses them for the tax they have to pay on the same, as a separate and specific item, he can take credit for such tax reimbursed on that for which he is liable on the sale of the vehicle he makes.

If he buys either or both such parts from a distributor or any person except the manufacturer, he cannot take credit for any tax reimbursed.

Collector Goodell declared that many such "dealer-manufacturer"

But, we're not making proper returns of tax, and were making ourselves liable for penalties by not doing so. He attributed this to a misinterpretation of the law. The manufacturer then tried to claim a credit for tax reimbursed, must show his entire tax liability on his sales for a month and then enter the credit claimed, and show the balance due, and fully explain the credit claimed.

"It's not allowable," said Collector Goodell. "To merely show on the form the net balance of tax due. Persons making such returns incur a penalty of $1,000.00 for making an improper return."

Curious About Your Plates? Read This!

Instead of having the numbers all in an unbroken row, as they were during 1922, they will be divided in the center this year so that they can be more readily discerned by a hasty glance.

The numerals will be white, on a black background, which makes them stand out very clearly. The division will be made by the name of the State and the numeral of the year " '23". This makes a very neat license plate.

Officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California in all the branch offices of the organization report an unprecedented rush for applications during the first week of the year. These applications, being taken for club members indicate something of the wild scramble that motorists of the state will undergo when general applications can be made. Auto club members are fortunate in being able to avoid the scurry promised the general run of automobile owners.

From experiences in various branch offices of the auto club, it appears that thousands of motor car owners will suffer some delay in making their applications before they go to file their certificates of registration are in proper form, with new addresses indicated, and perfectly legible. If the certificate has become covered with oil or dirt or otherwise mutilated, it must be exchanged for a new one, which can be determined by the district office.

Information in regard to state license applications will be furnished from this time on to the motoring public by all branch offices of the Automobile club.

TEST TIRE FILLERS

Tests in Europe of various gases as automobile tire fillers have shown that nitrogen will keep a tire hard for thousands of miles of use, while oxygen causes the rubber to deteriorate rapidly.

Many authorities state that the "jazz age" has struck a large number of auto drivers, but auto club officials say that most of the accidents hereabouts are traceable to carelessness and recklessness rather than to plain jazz. However, the big club has no desire to see this part of the west inoculated with eastern jazz germs and so its safety bureau has just issued a warning to the motoring public to watch its step and not get funny with the throttle.

According to Dr. Moore, who gave army mental tests during the world war and who urges that applicants for drivers' licenses be subject to similar mental tests, his war records show many instances of men 25 to 35 years of age having the minds of 12- to 15-year-old children trying to handle army motor vehicles. The number of such persons in charge of automobiles on city streets today is estimated at 100,000, Dr. Moore said.

Dr. Moore in a recent report which has received widespread attention.

Automobile club officials representing the legal department of the organization are completing preparations at the present time for a bill to protect motorists in the drafting of new motor vehicle laws at the 1923 meeting of the state legislature at Sacramento.

Los Angeles Leader In Accessory Sales

Manufacturers' excise taxes on automobile tires and accessories produced in the Southern California Internal Revenue District netted Uncle Sam $784,908.37 during the calendar year just closed, according to a survey forwarded to Washington by Collector Rex Goodcell.

The amount of tax collected represents sales of $15,698,167.40 by manufacturers during the year.

Evidently the Los Angeles District is running away from San Francisco as a manufacturing center of tires and automobile accessories, as the San Francisco tax collections from this source for the fiscal year 1922 was only $189,273.12 as against $784,908.37 for Los Angeles.

Night In Shanty

We spent the night at a shanty near Wildrose Springs and the next morning survived a big batch of Outdoor Franklin's pancakes. We passed the turnoff to skid, which was the only indication of former travel to an abandoned mining camp and mounted to Emigrant Springs, which is practically the summit of the Panamint. On the way we chewed up more tires and found only six gallons of gas in the tank.

This was the occasion for a council of war. We hardly had enough gas to get back to Trona, and we knew absolutely nothing of the going that was ahead of us or how far we would have to travel to get gas. In the midst of our debate we were startled by the appearance of the first human being we had seen since we left Trona. An old prospector, upon the point of exhaustion,
came scrambling over the rocks.
He had tramped over ten miles of sand dunes since 6 o'clock the night before and had nothing but a can of coffee left. He had lost his job at the Keene Wonder Mine, and had been told he could find work at the Darwin Mine.
He was without a map and had only a general idea where he was going. Our generous artist parted with a government map and we stocked the old prospector with a good assortment of provisions.
He told us that Furnace Creek ranch might supply us with gasoline if they had any to spare.

Big Gamble

Gambling on this lone hope we started on. Both of our spare tires had replaced tires chewed to bits and we were running on a flat tire in front. At the Emigrant Springs shanty we found the names of two men who had stopped there on March 28, 1922, and we believe that we followed their tracks. At Furnace Creek ranch we later learned that these men had come through in a stripped Ford, and so far as the men at the ranch knew, no one had been that way until our arrival.

Emigrant Wash, through which the old-timers left Death Valley, is nothing but a babble of canyons and rocks. There is no road.
While Franklin piloted the Buick from one crag to another the erstwhile passengers fanned out from the machine searching for the sign of a road. But even a vigorous polishing of our spectacles brought no reward. For twenty miles we picked our way through the rocks as best we could. It was the cruellest punishment you can inflict upon a motor car. It would have wrenched an ordinary car to pieces.

At Mesquite Flat on the floor of the valley we picked up the tracks lost twenty-eight miles before. It was easy riding for a while and the Buick scampered along like a thing of the wind.
As sudden as a cloudburst we struck sand and decided to stop for the night. We made our selves at home and got a good night's rest. It was a nice night, but terribly depressing because of the quietness. You sort of felt as if something were pushing on your head.

Terrific Going

The next day we hit Salt Wells and one mile of the damndest going through the salt marshes imaginable. We put our skid chains, but it took our driving with a car weighing 4300 pounds, filled, to get through. When we saw the palm trees at Furnace creek we all gave a sigh of relief.
It was the most welcome sight
we had spotted since leaving home. We had six quarts of gasoline left and covered thirty-five miles in two days.

Only Indians stay at Furnace Creek ranch, where the thermometer plays tricks around the 135 mark in the summertime.
They grow green stuff to supply the stock and people at the borax mines a few miles away. The old twenty-mule-team borax mine has been abandoned and the present one is on the railroad at Ryan postoffice, eliminating what was once a most picturesque angle to borax mining in Death Valley. We camped under the palm trees and next morning, after subduing some more pancakes, we headed down Death Valley as far as the Devil's Golf Course. We had piled the Indians loose from five gallons of gas, all they would spare, and were determined to see as much of the valley as our fuel supply would permit.

Auto club signs started anew at Furnace creek and from there the valley south is signed. We rolled to Shoshone and secured new rubber and gas and then climbed back over the Salisbury Pass, between 3000 and 4000 feet elevation. From Salisbury we coasted to the floor of the valley and obtained a view of the southern end, which is entirely different from the northern end. There are no big sand dunes in the southern end, but there are mud hills and fine, drifting sand galore.

Rain Butts In

We encountered a day of rain and found the Amargosa Sink hard pulling that account. We followed the Amargosa river to Saratoga Springs, which is signposted for no apparent reason.
There is nothing to be seen there.
Two miles out of Saratoga Springs

PRICES ON TIRES STAY STATIONARY

Western Auto Stores Do
Not Add to Cost; 1923
Prospects Are Good

The announcement given out
this week by the Western Auto Supply company that their Western Giant Cord and other tires would not be increased in price, even in the face of practically a universal jump in the entire standard tire price field, comes as good news to the thousands of motoring customers of the big chain of auto supply stores.

The information from the offices of the company is to the effect that they have been able to maintain their low price mark only because arrangements have been previously made for the building of more than a million dollars' worth of tires by eastern tire factories for delivery to the "Western Auto" stores during the early months of 1923.

Maintaining the company's saving and service policy toward its customers, the public will be able to purchase tires at "Western Auto" for a limited time at the old low prices. This includes Pharis cord and fabric tires, Nebraska fabric tires, and the Western Giant cord and fabric tires.

Excellent Prospects
In making the announcement
regarding the price schedule Mr.
Roudebush, local manager for the company, concluded by saying:

"This has been a great year for our company. During the year we have opened a number of new stores making a total of more than sixty in operation at this time. Our business has reached the immense total of more than $5,000,000 for 1922. Prospects for 1923 are excellent, we believe the future of the Pacific coast is to be one long story of progress and prosperity. We plan to build with the rest of the people of the western country for this future, and expect to merit the patronage of motorists because of giving full value for every dollar they spend in our stores."

BELGIUM BUILDS BIG RADIO PLANT

New Station to Communicate With North and South America

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Jan. 12.
—The Belgian government is building a new wireless station to maintain permanent service with the United States, The Belgian Congo and with South America.
The new structure, already under way, will cost 20,000,000 francs, will be erected at Ruyselede in Flanders, and have a capacity of 60,000 words a day.
This station will be only for transmitting messages and a receiving station will be built about ten miles from Brussels.

The erection of the big wireless station marks the end of Belgium's seclusion. Before the war she refused to occupy herself with any European and world questions, secure in her guaranteed neutrality. When the German invasion shattered that security, the Belgian government was forced to either make an entry into world affairs or disappear. Her decision is now history.

As a result of her decision, the cable bill of the Belgians increased enormously. In 1913, she exchanged 1,700,608 words with North America; in 1921, the total rose to 3,128,146. The development of Belgian Congo since the war has been remarkable.
From a cable business of 58,434
words with the Congo in 1913, Belgium increased to 198,842
words in 1921.

Motives for Station

The chief motives which led Belgium to set up this wireless station are: Absolute independence of wireless communication, as compared with ordinary telegraph, in time of war; prohibitive cost of laying submarine cables
from Belgium to distant countries;
and the proven superiority of wireless in transcontinental communication.

We came across a busy traffic corner, or so it seemed to us, who had seen no sign of motor roads for days. Here four roads converged. One whole trip was 613 miles, and from the time we left Johannesburg until we reached Amargosa Sink we ran across only two machines. One was an abandoned car at the entrance of Wildrose Canyon and the other a prospector's stripped Ford near Amargosa Sink.

The Avawatz mountains provided us with a cave to keep out the cold wind that night and the next morning we headed for Crackerjack, a relic of the wild and furious days of early California. The only things left now are a few stone foundations of shanties and a couple of weather-beaten shacks. The only sign of life in one of the shacks was a bunch of flies buzzing in a water
jar. There was no human society to furnish entertainment. It was a drear, drab picture. From Crackerjack we took our way back to Los Angeles by easy stages, glad to recommend Death Valley as a place that ought to be kept out of the touring trips column. Deluded, indeed, is the motorist who pictures roads in Death Valley. They are as forgotten to this pale, mysterious spot on the map as rattlesnakes in the snow.

FORD ORDERS SET NEW RECORD HERE

Deliver 5000 Cars in L. A.
District This Month,
Says Report

The January allotment of Ford machines in the Los Angeles district will be 5000 autos, 500 trucks and 250 tractors, according to word received yesterday by Clair R. D'Arge, sales manager for Jesse E. Smith. This represents a huge increase in comparison with former years, Mr. D'Arge says.

He also states that word from the Ford plant indicates that sales are increasing faster than production. At the present, he states, more than 5400 motors daily are shipped in carload lots to various Ford assembling agencies.

The sale of closed Ford cars have jumped approximately twenty-seven per cent, Mr. D'Arge asserts. He says the Ford plant is now turning out daily 30,000 yards of imitation leather and leather for furnishing coupes and sedans.

Prospective buyers of Fords are urged by Mr. D'Arge to get their orders in at an early date.
As present indications point to there being a huge demand for all models in the near future.

REGISTRY OF MOTORS

on official reports to the government, more than 11,300,000 passenger automobiles, trucks and

NEW STUDEBAKER COUPE EXHIBITED

Latest Five-Passenger Car
Is Received by Packer
Auto Company

The new Big-Six Studebaker five-passenger coupe, the sensation of the automobile market, has arrived in Glendale. It is now on display at the Packer Auto company, local Studebaker distributors, 245 South Brand boulevard. The new model was received this week.

Some of the innovations noted in the new car include an extra disc wheel and cord tire, combination stop and tail light, courtesy light, automobile windshield, walnut steering wheel of an improved type, sterling silver flower vase, etc.

The new model is very fashionable in design, and is finished in a most artistic style.

Another model being featured at the Studebaker agency is the Big-Six sedan, which has a number of new improvements. In general, equipment of the sedan compares favorably with the five-passenger coupe.

PURCHASE MOTOR REPAIR BUSINESS

Harry Doner and G. Murphy Take Over Trade of McGrath & Hunter

Harry A. Doner and George L. Murphy, two well known Glendale boys, have purchased the general auto repair business of McGrath & Hunter, 312 South Brand. The new firm will operate under the name of the "Murphy-Doner Service Garage."

Mr. Doner is the son of J. B. Doner, local real estate man. He was formerly engaged in the realty and building business with his father. He has a wide acquaintance in Glendale.

Mr. Murphy was for two years shop foreman for the Studebaker agency. Previous to that he was associated with the Studebaker dealers in Los Angeles. Like Mr. Doner, he is widely known throughout this section.

Mr. Doner, in announcing the purchase of the repair business yesterday, stated that he and his partner have obtained a long lease on the south Brand building, and that they are going to start in the repair field with a fully equipped shop. The motto of their firm will be "Service," he says.

Adjust Headlights, Association's Plea

"An editorial appeared in an Oakland newspaper recently that has a deal of merit, but it fails to show that there is a remedy for the evil," says Robert W. Martland, secretary-manager of the California Automobile Trade association.

"The editorial refers to the evil of glaring headlights and says in part: 'Defective lights which are either too glaring or too dim, are blamed for the condition. The great majority of drivers will agree there is need for giving support to the highway patrolman in the campaign against defective lights.'

"There is no one who drives at night who is not aware of the menace in improperly adjusted headlights. On the mountain grades this menace is greater. 'If the officers of the state and city police would enforce the existing motor law, glaring headlights could be eliminated in a few months,' continued Martland.

"The California Automobile Trade Association has established official headlight adjusting stations throughout the state. They are located so that they can be easily reached by motorists at all times.

"If the police officers and traffic men on the streets and highways would pick up those drivers who have bright lights on their cars, that glare, and send them to the adjusting stations, there would soon be an end to this menace of the road.

"Great care has been taken in establishing these headlight adjusting stations. The men who do the work have been instructed by an illuminating engineer who has been touring the state for the last year. Picked establishments were chosen for the work. No place was selected that did not have the proper equipment, entrance and exits. The equipment is all standard, and every station does the work just like every other station.

"Much good work has been done, but much more remains to be done and it is up to the enforcement officers to see that cars with glaring headlights are stopped and the drivers forced to have them adjusted."

She Aims at Skunk's Tail and Clips Head

SANDY, Ore., Jan. 13.—Mrs. Thomas Hagan is the champion pistol shot of this community. She recently went out to a chicken coop back of her home to end the career of a skunk which had been snoop about. She crawled under the coops with her gun and, aiming directly at the polecat's tail, shot off its head.

AUTO SERVICE IS TODAY'S PROBLEM

Maxwell Dealer Says Trade
Now Wonders What Will Happen After Sale

"In watching the development of new car models, the public in general has been overlooking the fact that much has been done to improve the facilities for servicing cars and assuring economical maintenance," says Lyman P. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car company, 124 West Colorado street, Maxwell dealers.

"The service problem is becoming one of the biggest in the automotive industry. In former years all the dealer's attention was focused on the sale of cars, and we witnessed the interesting spectacle of a dealer who had nothing except cars doing a huge annual business.

"Those days are gone forever. The man who goes out to buy an automobile today is thinking about what will happen after the sale. He very often changes his original choice just because the local facilities for servicing the car are too limited."

Motorists, Get Ready For Rush on Plates

Anticipating an unprecedented rush for California state licenses this year all branch offices of the Automobile Club of Southern California have started taking applications for the new license numbers.

Every motorist who is a member of the organization in this locality is urged to apply at once at the nearest club office for the proper application blanks and not to delay until the last minute. If all auto owners do wait, there will be a final jam which will prevent the smooth handling of the situation at the time when the plates are issued.

Eastern visitors who have been touring California and whose cars were registered during 1922 in another state and who now wish to take out a 1923 registration here should procure a certificate of registration from the state from whence they came and be prepared to prove ownership of their machine when application is requested for registration.

Early application of club members is urged, particularly in the branch office districts, as these applications filed at the branch offices will have to be forwarded to club headquarters to be rated and checked for clearance.

Do not forget that if your certificate of ownership has been lost, destroyed or so mutilated that it cannot be read, you should go at once to the club branch and procure a fresh duplicate.

MOON AND STARS SHINE ALONG ROW

Naylor Motor Company Is Directing Sale of Both
Models in Glendale

That Glendale's automobile row is a complete constellation, and more prominent from the fact that it contains several firmament bodies, was the statement made this morning by one of the local auto dealers when he pointed out the fact that Glendale has both the Moon and Stars.

Each of these cars are recent additions to the local auto row and are creating quite a noticeable stir among prospective purchasers. This is especially true of the New Moon Six-40 Sport Touring model which has been on display in the showroom of the Naylor Motor Company, 120 South Maryland, for the past week.

Mr. Naylor pointed out that the distinctive beauty of Moon cars is accentuated in the sport model, so much so that it commands the admiration of all lovers of sport. Finished in nickel, this beautiful model gleams from radiator to body rails and trunk. Equipped with a Red Seal Continental motor, this car has plenty of surplus power for real bursts of speed, it is asserted.

Indians Name Park For General Foch

BILLINGS, Mont., Jan. 13.—The spot at the Crow Indian agency, where the great French soldier, General Ferdinand Foch, was initiated into the Crow Indian tribe, November 28, 1921, has been named Foch Park by the Crow Indians in general council. At the same session a letter was written to General Foch asking that Ah-Bu-Ko-To-Bu-Tsa-Chieh, or "chief of all warriors," as the Indians call him, send them some fitting memorial to place in the park in his honor.

The French general was made an honorary chieftain of the Crows at elaborate initiation ceremonies in 1921, which thousands attended.

The Indians prefer a captured German cannon as a memorial, it was said. The letter to Foch was signed by Plenty Coos, chief of the Crow tribe. It calls attention to the fact that the only all-Indian American legion post in America is located at the Crow agency.

This Hotel Palace Is 200 Years Old

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—The picturesque old Bavarian city of Augsburg can boast of a hotel which recently celebrated its two hundredth anniversary as a hotel and which, as a structure, was in existence when Columbus discovered the New World.

The famous patrician Fugger family, the Rothschilds of middle ages, erected a stately mansion in 1492 next to the then renowned hostelry, "The Three Moors," much frequented by emperors, kings and cardinals during the Diet of Augsburg, in Luther's days.

In 1722 a senator of the free city of Augsburg bought the Fugger palace and transformed it into a hotel, which still stands and has kept up its reputation as one of the finest resorts of travelers in Southern Germany.

The guestbook of "The Three Moors" records the entries of several emperors of Austria and Russia, of Wellington, Paganini and Walter Scott.

Family of Germany's President Employed

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—Amalie Ebert, only daughter of the president of the German Republic, who is training for the library profession, is at present working on the staff of the Berlin City Library.

Franklin Ebert has just finished her two years of prescribed practical courses—one at the Heidelberg University library, the other at the Charlottenburg Free Library.

Fritz Ebert, Jr., is a journalist, while a brother is learning to be an optician.

Girl Elected Judge As Joke Takes Job

NICKERSON, Kan., Jan. 13.—Miss Clara Arnold, 19 years old, who declared her election as justice of the peace was a "joke," and who at first refused to qualify for that office and also of a recently vacated one of police judge, has capitulated and is now sitting on the bench.

"Club women, in a spirit of jest, wrote my name on the ballot in the last election," Miss Arnold explained. "I didn't want to be called Judge Arnold."

Her friends declare she is the youngest police judge in the state.

SAFETY PRECAUTION

WORK BEGINS ON LARGE RESERVOIR

Break Ground at Sparr Heights for Monster
Water System

Up in the hills to the east of the Verdugo road, workmen are busily engaged excavating for a reservoir designed to hold 500,000 gallons of water.

It is being constructed by the Francis-Barnum-Walters company, owners and subdividers of Sparr Heights, the 1500 acre subdivision in the northeastern section of Glendale, who report that the reservoir will furnish that rapidly developing community with domestic water.

"It will have a gravity pressure of from eighty-five to 150 feet and will adequately supply all except the homes perched way up on the mountain sides," they assert. "To meet this demand an auxiliary pumping plant will be installed."

"To distribute this water through this immense tract over six miles of four inch pipe will be required for mains, not to mention the amount necessary for laterals. Order Pipe

"The pipe has been ordered and is expected to arrive any day and its immediate installation will begin."

"Work is to commence at once on the Oakmont Country Clubhouse and golf course. Construction will begin on fifteen new residences in the next ten days and plans for twenty-six more homes are on the architect's tables. The streets are being graded, curbed and guttered. The recently dedicated $25,000 Community Centre building is progressing rapidly and there is a wondrous air of activity all over the territory that a year ago seemed far removed from all life and progress."

University Loses Photography College

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Lost, strayed or stolen—one college. Finder please return to Chancellor Charles Wesley Flint, of Syracuse university.

That's the want advertisement that might be inserted by Syracuse university officials. The missing college is the once-famous Syracuse University College of Photography. The building that housed it still stands, but the college has gone—where, no one knows.

When the College of Photography was started as the gift of Frank J. Marion it had a large enrollment. But, like all youthful enthusiasms, it died down and finally passed away.

Today the building houses ammunition for the Reserve Officers' Training Camp.

Boy Gives Life to Save Dog In Fire

WORCESTER, Mass., Jan. 13.—The tragic story of how a ten-year-old boy gave his own life in an attempt to save that of his dog was written here recently when fire destroyed the home of the boy's father, Waldo E. Sessions.

David Sessions, with his brothers, discovered the fire and notified the Fire Department. As the boys were leaving the house David discovered that his pet Alredale, Tex, was still in the burning building. He went back to get the pup. Neither was ever seen alive again.

Kermit Roosevelt Gets Father's Gift

TOKIO, Jan. 13.—During his visit to Japan Kermit Roosevelt has been presented with a large tiger skin by S. Yamamoto, a shipping magnate, who shot the animal in Korea. Yamamoto was a close friend of the former Theodore Roosevelt and several years ago attempted to present the same skin to him. Customs officials at San Francisco sent the hide back, however.

Roosevelt is busy sightseeing in Japan, and he and Mrs. Roosevelt are collecting a great many valuable Japanese curios, including books and prints.

A Nation's Tribute to Buick

There is an inspiring tribute to an industry in the universal recognition annually accorded the National Automobile Shows.

Thousands come to these exhibitions from every section of the continent and from foreign lands as well, and their advent is widely heralded the world over.

In the twenty-third National Automobile Show, just opening in New York, and later in Chicago, the nation is provided with a display of its chief means of personal transportation. This display is so complete and so magnificently set forth that all who come may easily carry away a perfect picture of the latest accomplishments in motor car building.

Year after year the national shows receive the homage of the entire country. Year after year they mark by their own increased magnitude and splendor, the increased growth of the automobile industry.

In occupying first place at both national shows for the fifth consecutive year, Buick continues the position in the industry awarded it by universal public opinion.

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The graduation to the "Majors" of Jimmy O'Connell and Willie Kamm takes place this season. Their "graduation exercises" as shown by the official averages of the Pacific Coast League for the 1922 season indicate that they know their stuff.

Though neither of them topped the class during the past season their all round ability was evidenced if figures mean anything. Bert Ellison the slugging first sacker of the San Francisco team topped the lists in the matter of driving in more runs than any other player in the league, he accounted for 141 driven in runs. Kamm ranked next to Ellison in the San Francisco list by batting in 124 runs, while Jimmy O'Connell was lower down with 92 runs batted in.

Though Paul Strand of Salt Lake topped the league batting averages and cracked out 289 safeties he did not do as well as Ellison in the matter of driving in runs, his total in this department being three less than Ellison or 138.

Kamm also showed his value in the matter of scoring runs and in this department made 137 circuits of the bases and in this regard Jimmy O'Connell was right at his team-mate's heels with 134 runs scored.

O'Connell is considered by the Coast League fans to be one of the fastest men in baseball particularly on the bases, while Willie Kamm is considered slow in this matter. It is strange, therefore that O'Connell pilfered only four more bases than Kamm did, the former getting 39 steals while Kamm is credited with 35 or a total of stolen bases for the pair of 74. Kamm was caught stealing only ten times whereas O'Connell was sent back twenty-eight times.

A number of fans and ball players were discussing Jimmy O'Connell the other day and one fan remarked "One trouble with O'Connell is that he has not learned the game yet."

"Give him time" burst forth Charley Pick, manager of the Sacramento team. "You can't learn to play baseball in a day, in one season or several seasons. Players learn to hit, they learn to field and to run bases; but when it comes to co-ordinating this knowledge it requires years of application."

"Take my own case for example," went on Pick. "I was in baseball five years before I found out that I could steal a base and it was years after that before I found out there was a time and a place for running the bases."

Walter McCredie, former owner and manager of the Portland team used to say, the longer you are in baseball, the less you know about it.

On top of all these remarks, the figures shown above for O'Connell would indicate that he at least knows the rudiments of the game and the fans expect the finishing touches will be put on when he goes east this season to the majors.

THE WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

An Englishman watching a duel recently between two Mexican army officers was shot by a stray bullet and killed, which merely goes to show that the only one who takes a sporting chance at a modern duello is the spectator.

Pacific Coast horse breeders name quite a number of mares for the futurity each year and nominations have been sent from such well known turfmen as A. K. Macomber and Rudolph Spreckels. Thoroughbred breeders of the coast heartily commend the action of the Westchester Racing association in making the distance of the futurity of 1925 seven furlongs, instead of the six furlongs of recent years. The tendency nowadays is to get away from the unsatisfactory scrambles of five or six furlongs, even for 2-year-olds.

The California Open Golf championships, played annually in the first week in January, is the first of the season each year. This year's entries presented a galaxy of names with Sarazen, Walter Hagen, Macdonald Smith, Jack Hutchinson, Joe Kirkwood, John Black, Eddie Loos and others. At this time of the year the California courses are at their best, due to the rains. They are springy and the turf the most beautiful of greens.

Few cities in the United States have a greater number of soccer football enthusiasts than San Francisco where the game is at present at the height of its season. There are a number of six and eight team leagues which play through a regular schedule for their respective championships, and the games are played every Saturday over a period of several months. Several thousand fans pay a fifty-cent admission to all the games, and in the final matches, when the race is close, at the end of a season, the attendance more than doubles.

Stanford university's athletic hopes received a tremendous jolt when the result of the Christmas examinations were announced and it was found that a score of the best athletes of that institution in various lines of sport had flunked out in their studies and would be barred from attendance at that institution for a year. The Stanford authorities have been making might efforts recently to place their athletic teams in the running and it is to their credit that the scholastic attainments are the first to be considered. Collegiate sports will be safe as long as this attitude prevails.

McCarthy Stands Pat On Long Statement

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—William H. McCarthy, president of the Pacific Coast League, had nothing to add to his 1,000-word announcement against the draft and Konesaw M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball today. He said he stood pat on the statement.

"Never could any one have suffered a keener disappointment than I have met," said the coast league head, regarding Landis.

"I fought for him, looked to him, followed him. But I cannot follow him to dishonor."

McCarthy charged that the recent draft legislation of the minors was a plain breach of contract, and declared that all of the facts were in the possession of Judge Landis when the supreme dictator of baseball ruled the majors were "justified."

Non-draft leagues will never accept players under the new major terms, McCarthy declared. He added that it remained to be seen whether the minors subject to the draft would rise up against the majors. The draft, he charged, was for giving the majors "absolute domination over professional baseball everywhere and to permit them to strip and denude every minor league baseball club at their will for their pecuniary benefit and advantage."

Demands Government 'Wets' Be Punished

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Representative William D. Upshaw, Democrat of Georgia, whose charges that scores of government officials and members of congress are daily violators of the Volstead law recently startled Washington, took the war path today to "bring the offenders to justice."

Upshaw visited the office of Prohibition Commissioner Haynes with a lengthy "black list" of officials and congressmen, whom he alleged were paying no attention to prohibition.

Upshaw did not leave the list with the prohibition chief today, but made another appointment for tomorrow at which time he promised he would give Haynes a long list of those he has reason to believe are "personally very wet."

"I don't want to get ugly or nasty with my colleagues as concerned," said the Georgian, "but I'm out to stop this boot-legging game."

"I will give the prohibition commissioner tomorrow the name of one very high official of the government whom I am reliably informed is a violator of the law. There will be others, too."

Locals and Pomona Clash Monday Night

The rejuvenated basketball team of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, which overwhelmed the Vernon quintet of Los Angeles in a spirited game on the local court Wednesday night, will appear before local fans of the casaba tossing pastime Monday night, the visiting squad being the Pomona Legionnaires. Albert G. Wheelon, captain and manager of the Glendale aggregation, is out to avenge the defeat suffered earlier in the season at the hands of the "Blue Law-ites," and claims that he will be ready to "burn up the squad's uniforms" if his men fail to bring home the bacon.

After a more or less indifferent start the Glendale ex-service men have developed a team work and general all-around play that shows a fifty per cent improvement, and they are now given an even chance at running away with the Los Angeles county American Legion league first honors. All lovers of clean, wholesome sport are invited and urged to attend the contest Monday night and "root for the home team."

The locals' line-up will be as follows: Wheelon and Hayward, forwards; Bunker, center; Watt and Keller, guards. The substitutes who will probably get into the fray before the final whistle is blown are Goodman, Patchen, Campbell, Dick, Vaughn and Grist. The game will be called promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

Opening Dates for Big Leagues Out

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Opening games for the 1923 major league season were announced late today by Ban Johnson, president of the American league, just returned from a meeting of the schedule makers.

The National league will open the season April 17. Chicago will start a home with Pittsburgh. St. Louis will play at Cincinnati, New York and Boston, and Philadelphia at Brooklyn.

The American league season will begin April 18.

JOHNSON DEFEATS 'SETUP' BRENNAN

'Big Iowan' Makes Miserable Showing; Scribe Infers He's 'Green'

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The unseemly noise that awakened the respectable element in the community from its sleep last night was the terrific "pop" of one Tex Rickard's multi-colored bubbles bursting right in the faces of the cash customers.

Floyd Johnson, two handed Iowan, won a bruising fifteen round decision over Bill Brennan upon the occasion in question, but the promised bout with Dempsey is like the promised land—a long way off.

Johnson proved he was a better man than ill-conditioned Brennan, ten pounds overweight and fighting on his nerve, after the sixth round; whatever else he proved, however, was not to his credit.

Wrecks Program

It had been planned to have Johnson mount the Latin countenance of Louis Firpo to a bout with Tom Gibbons and thence on to Willard and Dempsey, but that program ran into an open switch and piled up with great disorder last night.

Johnson showed such unfamiliarity with the accepted tenets of Marquis of Queensberry's favorite pastime that it is now a matter of doubt as to whether he could acquire this knowledge in sufficient quantities to stand off a rough man like Firpo by the March date suggested for the bout. Gibbons, of course, would cut him to bits. As for Willard and Dempsey, the thing is impossible and will be for the next couple of years.

STATE'S HISTORY IS TOLD KIWANIS

Mark Keppel, Superintendent of Schools, Addresses Club at Meet

"The Pioneer History of California" was the subject of an address given yesterday at the Broadway Inn before members of the Glendale Kiwanis Club by Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools.

"If the pilgrims had discovered the Golden Gate instead of Plymouth Rock, New England would still be undiscovered," asserted Mr. Keppel, quoting a report made by Senator Baker to Senator Webster in the United States senate regarding the obscurity at that time of this section of North America.

While he paid a tribute to the integrity, industry and other qualities of the Japanese, Mr. Keppel intimated that something must be done to keep the members of this race out of California before 1923 or 1924 or it might be too late.

Like Chinese Influx

The Japanese problem, in the opinion of Mr. Keppel, is identical with the Chinese problem in California which preceded it. He pointed out that it had been necessary to import Chinese coolies in order to build the Central Pacific railroad.

"The trouble with Europe today is that she is making money with printing presses instead of with the sweat of her brow," asserted Mr. Keppel. He said California contributed $50,000,000 in gold a year during the Civil war period to the preservation of the Union.

"Every student, every poet and every historian tells about the Golden Age of California," stated Mr. Keppel. "A thousand years from now poets will still be singing about the Golden Age of California."

Gold Discovery

"The first discovery of gold in California was not made by James W. Marshall at Sutter's Fort in January 1848," he said. "Gold had been mined for seven years previous to that time about thirty-five miles northeast of Los Angeles, not far from the old mission of San Fernando. Previous to the gold rush, $200,000 worth of gold dust had been marketed from The Cascades."

Credit for the discovery of America was given by Mr. Keppel to an unnamed Italian who came to the shores of the Caribbean sea about 300 A. D. and returned to Europe with a map of a section of the coast line of Texas. Mr. Keppel intimated that there was no doubt about the fact that Vikings had settled in Newfoundland under the leadership of Leif Erickson, or Leif the Lucky.

Realtor Is Against 'Multiple Listing'

Editor The Evening News: We have been in the real estate business in Los Angeles county for about twenty-seven years, and have never signed up anyone on an exclusive contract. If we want exclusive we put up money on an option. The multiple listing contract ties a man up so tight that the owner has no say in the matter. Ties him up for sixty days and if he withdraws by giving fifteen days' notice, then they still have a string on him for sixty days more. If a man comes to the owner of a piece of property, and says he will give him all cash for his property, and an agent comes to him and says he showed the man his property sixty or ninety days ago, the owner is obliged to pay a commission to the agent.

If you come to us, and offer to give us your property exclusive, we will thank you, and advertise it, but we consider your word to us as good as ours to you, and ask you to sign nothing, and will be pleased to have you sell your own house if you can and save the commission.

We paid $10 just to see how the multiple listing system was working, and find many people each day who would like to get their listings out. We have never listed any property in the system, and we want it known that we are against the system.

PRaises REMARKS OF FATHER O'NEILL

Writer to Los Angeles Paper Gives His Views Upon Religious Freedom

The following self-explanatory communication appeared recently in a Los Angeles newspaper:

"Some kind friend has sent me a marked copy of the New Menace, published at Aurora, Mo. This is evidently an anti-Roman Catholic organ. Its contents fill the average American now with amusement, now with disgust. This un-American, intolerant sheet makes you think of the days when the Quakers were hanged on Boston Common by the Congregationalists or when the Huguenots suffered at the hands of the Catholics in the massacre of St. Bartholomew. The Menace criticizes Father O'Neill of Los Angeles for speaking in defense of freedom of religious education as follows:

"Take again the invidious attempt to throttle and exterminate the parochial schools through legislation, Catholicism (the Knights of Columbus) has taken up the fight, has accepted the challenge and already put a stop to this invidious movement. Again, 'and now another danger threatens, the so-called K. K. K. Let me ask you, men of this parish, how you would feel, right here and now, if you did not have the comforting knowledge that for every sworn enemy of Catholicism in this secret order, there is a sworn enemy of Catholicism, who have ten Knights of Columbus, staunch and true, ready to fight for the privilege of worshipping God in your own way.'

Cheers for Him

"Hurrah for Father O'Neill. Three cheers for the Knights of Columbus! I, a Congregationalist, will do my bit with the K. K. K. One of the greatest menaces in America today is religious intolerance. I received the best part of my education in an old Congregational academy in New England. I venture to say there is no high school in California that has such thorough instruction, such high standards as that old school. If we abolish Roman Catholic schools, then we must abolish Methodist schools, etc.

"Those who have enjoyed 'Casey's' hospitality on the Marine or on the Rhine will never forget the great work of the Knights of Columbus 'over there'."

"G. W. FELTON."

The Father O'Neill referred to in the above communication is the pastor of the Glendale church not in Los Angeles. Incidentally, Father O'Neill is a native of New England. He states that he appreciates the expressions of Mr. Felton.

Mrs. E. R. Dietrich Opens Own Business

Mrs. E. R. Dietrich has resigned her position as manager of Yale Bros. Realty company in order to go into business for herself at 133 1/2 South Brand boulevard, under the firm names of "Dietrich Realty company" and "Dietrich Construction company."

Mrs. Dietrich has had long and successful experience in both lines of business. She was vice-president and manager for years of "Dietrich, Ltd.," Montreal, Canada, a large railroad and municipal consulting and contracting company. "Dietrich, Ltd." was known from the Atlantic to the Pacific in Canada on account of its work in construction for the National Transcontinental, Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Pacific railways.

Since coming to California eight years ago Mrs. Dietrich has been actively engaged in buying and selling real estate and pure-bred, beef and feeder cattle. In locating permanently in Glendale she feels that the most desirable location in Southern California has been chosen for both the realty and construction business.

Age and Adversity Are Man's Greatest Enemies

Old age cannot be avoided; adversity may or may not come to you—but if you are a home owner you are BEYOND THEIR REACH.

They may come in sight, but they cannot harm you. You have grasped the golden opportunities of youth and utilized the wonderful strength of manhood and womanhood in order to rear an impassable barrier against both these enemies of man. And you have succeeded—for the man or woman who can sit at "home" need not fear the poorhouse.

When you occupy your own home no landlord can evict you or increase the rent or refuse to make necessary repairs. Nor can adversity overcome you, because, if the worst came, the value of your property will tide you over until you can get a fresh start.

LODGE WORK DONE BY LOCAL WOMEN

Mrs. Peck and Mrs. Crawford Installing Officers in Veterans' Daughters

Mrs. Susie Peck, of 129 West Los Feliz road, and Mrs. William M. Crawford, of 891 South Central avenue, department color bearer and department musician, respectively, of the California and Nevada district of Daughters of Veterans, have spent the past week performing the official installation work of the organization.

Accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Stoner, of Sawtelle, department president, the local women have regularly installed the newly elected officers in the tents of

Senior and Junior Wardens Are Chosen

John Trotter of 801 Orange Grove avenue has been selected as senior warden and treasurer of St. Mark's Episcopal church. John Cate of 406 West Broadway has been selected as clerk of the vestry and Alex J. Badger of 464 Oak street has been chosen as junior warden.

"A skin you love to touch," on closer examination, proves to have been retouched.

Santa Ana, Pomona, Whittier and Ocean Park.

They report the work will continue for the next two weeks, and will include the installation of officers in practically every Daughters of Veterans organization in the southern part of the state.

Mrs. Peck is a member of the Mary Jane Gillette tent of this city, while Mrs. Crawford's membership is with the Helen Jean Christie tent of Los Angeles.

STORY OF ELIJAH TOLD BY PASTOR

Elder R. W. Parmele Holds Adventists' Services in School House

The Sabbath school and church service of the Seventh-day Adventists were held today in the Third street school building, as their church building is undergoing some interior improvements. It was necessary to divide the congregation, as no one room in the school building is large enough to hold all who attend.

One of the features of the day was a meeting conducted in one of the rooms by Mrs. Bates of Eagle Rock, for the young mothers. Mrs. Bates is interested in the "Home Commission" organized by the general conference of the Seventh-day Adventists, which has for its purpose better conditions in homes. A society is to be organized in Glendale, and will take up a special study of how the home, and the care of the children may be improved.

Tells of Elijah

The pastor, Elder R. W. Parmele, spoke in the chapel on "Elijah, the Prototype." He took for his text, Mal. 4:5, 6. He said in part:

"Notwithstanding the fact that this scripture had reference to the coming of John, the Baptist, and Jesus, himself, also applied it to that great prophet, yet it is my profound conviction that it has an application to that people who will live just prior to 'the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord.'"

"Elijah eventually left off the use of all flesh foods, and, at the end, was fed by the angels. May we learn a lesson from this experience as well?"

Cease Slaying to Eat

"It is the firm belief of the speaker that the time will come when the true servants of God will cease slaying to eat. Flesh foods are not the best for the preservation of health, and is not the original diet given man by his Creator."

"The last experience of Elijah upon earth was a tour of visits among the schools of the prophets, evidently looking after the interests of the students attending them. So the modern Elijah will turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and this we are seeing fulfilled in our educational system, and in the special efforts we are now making to better the conditions of the home."

LEAVES HOSPITAL

D. A. Buchanan, of 410 Salem street, left the Glendale Research hospital today. He is an employee of the Packer Automobile company of 245 South Brand boulevard, and was injured when he was caught between two automobiles recently.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Names of some of the capital's most prominent bootleggers, together with a list of their patrons, constitutes part of the evidence which Representative William D. Mer Rouge Klansman Story Branded Fake BASTROP, La., Jan. 13.—The alleged attempt to assassinate Dr. Bunne McKoin, captain of the Ku Klux Klan in Mer Rouge, was branded a "fake" today by W. B. Stucky, a former state senator from Morehouse parish, in testifying at the open hearing on the "hooded mob" murders.

The story of this attack, Stucky said, was used by McKoin to incite Klansmen to help him punish his personal enemies.

M. W. A. LODGES INSTALL OFFICERS

Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors Hold
Joint Ceremonies

Good fellowship, brotherly and sisterly love prevailed last night in the "forest of woodcraft," the occasion being a joint installation of officers elected for the ensuing year of Glendale camp No. 12886, Modern Woodmen of America, and its sister auxiliary, Glendale camp No. 8938, Royal Neighbors of America.

Installing officers for the Modern Woodmen were Attorney C. F. Byrer and A. D. Keiser, both of Golden State camp, No. 7110, of Los Angeles, and for the Royal Neighbors Mrs. Hattie Muther and Mrs. Rosa Morgan of Pasadena camp, No. 2306.

A large attendance of Glendale's own, as well as numerous out of town members of these two fraternal organizations were present. Following the installation the rest of the evening was devoted to social activities and the serving of refreshments.

Attorney Henry Molz, due to pressure of private business, declined re-election to the office of camp clerk of the Modern Woodmen, which office he so ably filled since the camp's organization. Mrs. James E. Howes, recorder of the Royal Neighbors, likewise declined re-election to this office. Refusal of the foregoing to accept re-election was highly regretted. Officers installed to serve the local Modern Woodmen of America camp for the present year follow:

Dr. Bion S. Warner, consul; Carroll L. Harg, past consul; Marion A. Bunting, adviser; Charles A. Bunting, banker; Ray E. Wolcott, clerk; J. F. La Rock, escort; A. F. Muske, sentry; Z. Hammond, watchman; William Griffin, James E. Howes and David C. James, trustees; Harry C. Smith, Francis M. Collier and Edmund T. Remmer, physicians.

Royal Neighbors of America

Estella Hock, oracle; Veneta Bunting, past oracle; Ida Leach, vice oracle; Anna Smith, chancellor; Blanche Gommell, recorder; Maude Rucker, receiver; Estella Rockwell, marshal; Eva P. Molz, inner sentinel; Jessie Loucks, outer sentinel; Lillian Howes, John W. Jones and Bernice Turner, managers; Dr. Laura Brown, Dr. H. C. Smith, physicians; Mrs. Laura Jones, musician.

HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

W. S. Simmons, of 317 Geneva street, was struck by a machine driven by Oscar B. Fischer of Tujunga, which was just starting up after it had stopped on Glendale avenue near Monterey Road.

"Millions Now Living Will Never Die"—Judge Rutherford

A SICK WORLD

POLITICAL, FINANCIAL, ECCLESIASTICAL QUACKS HAVE FAILED TO RELIEVE THE

DISTRESS OF NATIONS

WHAT IS THE REMEDY?

The Great Physician and Healer is Present. Invisible to men He is establishing upon the earth the Kingdom of which He and every inspired prophet and apostle testified. The Scriptures are clear in their proclamation that this Kingdom which they heralded is a Gospel of Blessing for the vast majority of humankind, not a message of woe for all except a few. This great and marvelous Kingdom now being established is not a mysterious, intangible arrangement having no meaning for the toiler and the sufferer, but one which will bring such practical and understandable things as perfect and complete health, beautiful, happy and peaceful homes, luxuriant vegetation, sublime climate from pole to pole, righteous and just laws—World Wide—and greatest of all, unending life upon the earth.

Many people who are now living, by conforming their lives to the Laws of God, and heeding the message of the hour—"Repent ye, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand"—may continue to live through the present transition period when mankind passes from the thralldom of Satan's misrule to the glorious liberty of the Kingdom of God, and these will actually never die.
